SHORTY IN DA HOUSE!!

Issue 1 - January 2002

Hi All-

HAPPY NEW YEAR and welcome to the first issue of Shorty In Da House!, my monthly e-letter designed for those nearest and dearest to me, but please share it with others in your address book if you feel they will benefit from the info. Believe it or not, I'm not hustling anything (this time) but I still have CDs for ya and if anyone has Faith Evans, may I borrow it please? ☺

The purpose of my publication is to inform and assist with relationship building. It is very informal so if you see any grammatical or syntax errors, get over it and keep on reading. Profanity will be kept to a minimum. I promise.

With that said, if there is anything you would like to see in Da House, let me know. Things I'm looking for are: cool sites you visited (intentionally or otherwise), job tips or requests for assistance with your job search, invitations to your place of worship, travel packages, good books/films, poems you would like to share, parties, upcoming events – you know, stuff like that.

Now for the news.....

Finally, a job...Yes, I'm talking about the 'Short One' herself – ME. As you all know, I have been seeking a new position for nearly a year and God has blessed. I am the Human Resources Coordinator at Awakened Alternatives, a home health agency, in Hazel Crest (south suburbs). It is a small company and I'll be doing the generalist work I desire to do.

Thanks to everyone who looked out for Shorty - - you are greatly appreciated. I luv you all. Even if you had my back from a distance, I still luv you.

After almost a year of seeking a new position, I'd like to share a little about what I learned during my experience.

1. Know what you want and make your desires known to God. Be specific in your requests. If you don't know, don't ask because you could get anything.
2. Put the time into your job search as you would anything else you feel is worth having. Don't forget to research salary information (salary.com, industry reports).
3. Tell everybody you are looking for a job – even if you don't know them. They may lead you to someone who can help you.
4. Go to sites of professional organizations in your field – nationally and locally. Most of them have career centers.
5. BE PATIENT – It's not your time, but God's time. No matter how hard and long you look, ain't nothing gone happen until He wills it so.

threw that in because I see it on all other newsletters.

May you have much peace, happiness, love, joy, prosperity, and safety 2002

God bless and look for future issues of Shorty In Da House!!
